

SEIZE YOUR NEXT MISSION

Facility Management

Your perfect career path

Are you an active-duty military service member or a veteran ready to conquer your next mission? Facility management "FM" is the dynamic career path you've been looking for, with unparalleled opportunities for growth and success.

Sgt. Smith

James Smith, CFM, FMP, SFP

CAREER
TRANSITION
TO FM

YOUR NEW CAREER BEGINS HERE ...

Why Facility Management?

FM isn't just a job; it's a calling — for leaders, problem solvers, and individuals committed to excellence. In this profession, your military-honed traits like adaptability, attention to detail and strategic thinking are the key ingredients for success.

Forge Your Path

Charting a new course can be daunting, but you're not alone on this journey. Tap into a wealth of resources, mentorship programs, and educational opportunities tailored specifically for military service members and veterans.

With the right support system by your side, you'll navigate this transition with confidence and clarity, ready to conquer new horizons.

CREDENTIALS

Elevate your career prospects with IFMA's professional development credentials, such as the FMP, which equips you with crucial facility management skills. This program can be completed in six months and readily transfers to civilian roles.

CAREER

Discover a rewarding career in facility management, where your diverse military expertise effortlessly transfers into the FM profession, paving the way for career growth and upward advancement.

COMMUNITY

Access invaluable support from IFMA's Military Community at a reduced rate during your service and as a veteran, ensuring you have the resources necessary for a successful transition to civilian life.

ISRAEL RODRIGUEZ, CFM
Chief Master Sergeant,
USAF Reserve

"FM is a dynamic field that most people don't understand. It's very sophisticated in that every facility has its own set of challenges and a way it operates. You wear many hats, develop knowledge of multiple systems. You switch gears at any moment from updating a budget to trying to solve issues like a major water leak. Every day is different for us."

Visit military.ifma.org to learn more.

